

What to Bring to Camp

Horse Programs: Day Only (non-overnight)

Ranch Day Camp, Jr. Ranch Day Camp, Tumbleweeds, Buckaroos

Please bring to camp each day:

- Water bottle
- Jeans (required for riding)
- Boots with a heel (riding boots; no “work boots”) *
- Light jacket or extra long-sleeved shirt, in case of a chilly day or bugs
- Tennis shoes (for other camp activities)
- Shorts to change into after riding activities
- Sunscreen
- Bug repellent
- Backpack
- A great attitude!

Weather-permitting, we will also probably offer “water activities” at some point. The staff will inform the campers & parents ahead of time, based on weather, as to which day they would need to bring water gear and what they need.

* If you do not have boots suitable for horseback riding, Ewalu has some available and will be happy to lend your child a pair. ☺ However, there is no guarantee we will have your child's exact size. Other riding items, such as riding helmets and tack, will be provided.

Are your boots okay for horseback riding? A few tips from MyHorseUniversity.com:

“Although there is no official testing or standards for boots, you will want to find a pair with about a 1 to 1 ½ inch heel and low tread. The heel will keep your foot from slipping through the stirrup when riding. In this case, gym shoes are not appropriate for riding a horse. The tread on many hiking and winter boots is too heavy and in case of a fall may jam in the stirrup. You also want to avoid any boots with waffle tread.” <http://www.myhorseuniversity.com/resources/EE/July2012/EquestrianAttire>
